

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
1 The Problem of Plagiarism	1
The Debate over Plagiarism	3
Why Do Students Cheat?	10
Cultural Perspectives on Plagiarism	13
Plagiarism and Technology	20
2 Intellectual Property Issues and Plagiarism: What the Debate over Both Means for First- and Second-Language Writing Teachers	24
The Historical Development of Intellectual Property	24
The Evolution of Authorship and Intellectual Property	28
The Impact of the Internet	36
The Legal Cases Shaping the Metaphors of Intellectual Property in Cyberspace	38
Fair Use, Intellectual Property Law and Plagiarism	50
Differences between Intellectual Property Law and Plagiarism	56
3 Connecting Intellectual Property Law and Plagiarism in the Writing Classroom: The Impact of Intellectual Property Law on Teaching Writing	60
Intellectual Property Law in an Educational Context	62
The Impact of Technology on the Pedagogical Use of Intellectual Property	63
The Use of Intellectual Property Outside the Classroom	66
The Role of Writing Teachers in the Debate	68

	Rethinking the Relationship between Intellectual Property and Plagiarism	69
	Conclusion	71
4	A Pedagogical Approach toward Plagiarism	73
	The Development of Attitudes toward Plagiarism in the Academy.	73
	The Pedagogical Problem Today	79
	The Impact on Classroom Teaching.	84
5	Searching for a Metaphor for Thinking about Plagiarism	87
	The Battle of Metaphors for Framing the Discussion of Plagiarism.	87
	Traditional Metaphors and Traditional Approaches.	88
	Copy Detection Programs and the ‘Stealing’ Metaphor.	90
	Multimedia Approaches to Teaching about Plagiarism	92
	Finding New Metaphors for Framing Plagiarism.	94
	The Use of the Game Metaphor	98
	Students as Game Players	102
	The ‘Game Theory’ Metaphor and Genre Variation	104
6	Rethinking Pedagogical Strategies for Teaching about Plagiarism	109
	Developing a Pedagogical Framework Using the ‘Game’ Metaphor	109
	The ‘Game’ Metaphor and Teaching about Writing	113
	Student, Teacher and Administrative Attitudes toward Plagiarism and Intellectual Property.	117
	Creating a Course for Discussing Plagiarism and Intellectual Property	135
	Conclusion	165
7	Conclusion.	167
	References	174